PROFILE

I love the feeling of accomplishment gained from solving a complex computer science problem. My educational background is in computer science, where I began my journey by completing my bachelors in Bosnia. Later, I decided to seize the opportunity to move to the USA, which redirected my path towards establishing myself and my family in the USA. Now, ten years later, I have returned to my studies to refresh my skills in the latest and most relevant software engineering best practices and technologies for the current market. As I pursue my associates at Miami Dade College and, as a recent graduate of BrainStation, I have refined my skills to contribute to a tech team.
