PROFILE

A diligent, focused, and enthusiastic recent graduate, with a practical and analytical approach to web development. Eager to begin a new career in the tech space. Having spent several successful years in both the hospitality and healthcare industries, I noticed a trend towards reliance on new technologies in both fields. After seeing the positive impact an efficient and user-friendly system can have on a workplace, I was inspired to make the transition into web development. I hope to contribute to similar projects in the future.
