I am a front-end web developer who worked in the sports industry until I was temporarily laid off as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The tech industry has been resilient in spite of the pandemic, which led me to pivot from sports to web development for a more stable form of employment.

With the unique dual threat of a graduate degree in mathematics and professional graphic design experience, I am looking for a position where I can integrate these strengths with my skills in HTML and CSS to create websites.
