PROFILE

As a recent immigrant from Venezuela, I'm very driven to learn new skills to innovate and contribute as I begin my career in the United States. I'm motivated by high pressure environments which inspire me to try new things and leverage my diverse skill sets. Through my studies in design and business and my work in sales, I have developed key skills in problem-solving and a curiosity about tech. I have self-taught tech skills in e-commerce and an entrepreneurial spirit. As a recent BrainStation software engineering graduate, I have built foundational tech skills and I am ready to join the world of software engineers.
