PROFILE

As a former museum professional with a keen eye for detail and a flair for creativity, I'm excited to transition into a career in UX design. With a curious and analytical mindset, I'm constantly researching and learning to stay ahead in this ever-evolving field. Drawing from my experience in engaging with crowds, gathering feedback, and my innate drive to make products and experiences more intuitive and joyful, I bring a fresh perspective and a unique blend of skills to create meaningful user-centered designs.
