PROFILE

Driven by my lifelong passion for creating unique and exciting projects from their inception to their completion, be it through photography, videography, or design, I have now found that same joy in coding. I thoroughly enjoy the process of tackling a challenge head on with a flexible mindset in order to reach innovative solutions through creative approaches.

Attaining an end result that is not only visually impressive but functional as well is something I highly value. I am excited to bring my unique skill-set and be a contributing member in the technology sector.

SKILLS

Philip Bertogg

Communications/Engagement Coordinator, Graphic Designer,
UX Certificate

I have found that my curiosity and motivation has allowed me to progress my professional career without ever becoming stagnant and always striving to learn new skills and progress in all aspects of my life. Before making the decision to solidify my current skillset by becoming a web developer I obtained a certification in user experience design, by doing so I quickly integrated these new skill and knowledge to my current work which allowed me to produce exciting results.
