PROFILE

As a professional model making a switch into tech, I've well prepared myself to be placed under high pressure.

My hope is to bring my international experience to companies that are as excited as I am to build meaningful websites that connect individuals to their culture.

Culture is a beautiful thing I've seen that connects people and gives them a sense of belonging.

In a world where we have meshed to feel inclusivity by being the same, why not switch the narrative to showcase how our differences are evidence of our beauty?
